DAVEY ASKS MORE SUPPORT LOCALLY

Little more than sufficient to meet the unpaid relief allotments. We are, therefore, nearly $5,000,000 worse off than we were a year ago.

Relief Load Cited

This is due entirely to the fact that there was appropriated $9,000,000 for relief out of the general revenue fund. Otherwise, we would have had a surplus of about $10,000,000.

It is obvious we have very little surplus with which to start the new biennium. If we had not practiced drastic economy in the last two years the state would have been bankrupt a long time ago or else it would have been forced to levy new taxes. In the meantime, the state has neglected its own serious problems in many ways, including urgently required buildings, modernization and fireproofing at its institutions. In many places, they are disgracefully overcrowded, and in other places, there are appalling fire hazards.

Clinics Need Help

Some important constructive things clamor for attention, such as the creation of insane clinics, further development of the social security program, expansion of conservation activities, reorganization of many branches of the government to produce greater efficiency and economy. Greater the various charitable enterprises on a more businesslike and humane basis, a greater road improvement program with more grade crossing elimination and replacement of dangerous bridges, and a more businesslike approach to the whole problem of care and housing of the 37,000 inmates in the state institutions.

To one who has studied the financial program of Ohio, it is appalling to see how the state has progressively impoverished itself and neglected its own problems. No doubt this was justified during the dark days of the depression, when local governments were on the verge of collapse as a result of tax delinquencies, greatly lowered tax valuations, and the 10 mill limitation. The first of these is rapidly being corrected by returning prosperity, the second can be corrected through appropriate action by local taxing authorities, the third problem still remains with the subdivisions.

Points to Costs

However, the year 1936 presents the financial situation in startling form. If we eliminate the highway department and the liquor department, which are self supporting through their own revenues, the cost of running the entire balance of the huge state government was less than $30,000,000. Contrast this if you please with $44,000,000 furnished to the people.

ished to the people, $9,000,000 furnished to the cities, cities, villages and townships, $27,000,000 furnished by the state for relief, and $12,000,000 as the state portion of old age pensions. This makes a total of $143,000,000 collected by the state and furnished for local requirements in all the 88 counties of the state, against less than $30,000,000 when the state was available for its own use, outside of the two self-supporting departments.

I submit this program most as reasonable and certainly to the members of the legislature. Should the state make of itself a still greater collection agency for the benefit of local government? It is a very recent hope that we can avoid very taxes, as we were able to do the last two years. It seems to me that the logical answer to this problem is a larger contribution by the local governments for their own needs and a somewhat smaller contribution by the state.

If this general formula is followed, and if we put into effect a more reasonable economy, we will have a reasonable amount of money with which to take care of urgent state requirements and at the same time, avoid new taxes levied by the state.

Many Hills Before House

Before the house were two dozen bills, ranging from a proposal to redirect the state for election of congressmen to a request that Flag day, June 14, be made a legal holiday.

The redistricting bill presented by Rep. George J. Harter Democrat of Summit was the same which he offered two years ago but which died in the senate.

At present there are 22 congressional districts, with two other representatives elected by the state at large. Harter would give Cuyahoga county four districts. At present there are two districts and it shares a third with Geauga and Lake counties.

Four Counties in District

Lake, Geauga, Portage and Ashland would be placed in a new district. The 14th district, which now embraces Summit, Lorain and Medina counties, would be restricted to Summit alone, with the other two transferred into the 13th district, now made up of Huron, Seneca, Erie, Sandusky and Wood counties. The 12th district would be restricted to Mahoning and Trumbull counties. At present it includes Ashland. No other districts would be changed.

Three measures were proposed to reenact the Best mortgage foreclosure moratorium law for two years.

Rep. C. H. Armbruster, Democrat of Henry, suggested repeal of the intangible tax law and return to the old uniform taxation system.

A bill by Rep. J. H. McGregor, Republican of Coshocton, would give the county auditor, treasurer and commissioners, acting as a committee, power to postpone real estate reappraisals until 1943. A similar act was vetoed by Gov. Davey last week.

Rep. John L. Richards, Republican of Carroll, proposed refunding of road assessments from 1913 to 1937. The Lawrence-Armbruster law, killed by the state supreme court, provided for such refunds by deductions from counties shares of automobile license fees. Richards' bill made no provision for financing the repayment.

Other bills before the house included provisions for:

Central counting of election ballots by county election boards, prohibiting sale of fireworks, abolishing the death penalty for minors, paying rural school board members $2 per meeting for not more than 10 meetings a year, appropriating $200,000 to aid small public libraries, four-year terms for township clerks and trustees, increasing township trustees' salaries from $250 to $350 annually; and increasing from 40 to 65 cents per day the food allowance for prisoners in city jails.

FINES ASSESSED BY PROSPECT JUSTICE

Three Men in Court on Trapping Law Charges.

Three persons drew fines in the justice of peace court of G. F. Gast, at Prospect in the last few days on trapping law violation charges.

E. E. Barkley, superintendent of the Marion county children's home was assessed $10 and costs Saturday on a charge of illegal possession of a muskrat pelt. He faced the charge, filed by O. H. Nelms, of Prospect, deputy state game protector, as the result of three youths about 15 years of age at the children's home having alleged trapped the animal before the season opened Dec. 1.

Although the justice court records show a plea of guilty was entered in the case Mr. Barkley asserted he did not enter a plea of guilty. He said, on the contrary, he had pleaded not guilty but in a discussion of the case had agreed to pay the fine rather than go to the time and expense of fighting the case in a hearing.

John Gillespie of Marion and Royal Gillespie of near Prospect were given a joint fine of $25 and costs on a charge of trapping without a license when they were taken before Mr. Gast Sunday.

PHYSICIANS HOLD MONTHLY MEETING

250 Marion Sportsmen Hear State Game Head

Lawrence Wooddell Talks on Work of Conservation Department.

With the theme that "it takes more than water to produce fish and more than ground to produce game," Lawrence Wooddell, state conservation commissioner, last night presented an interesting and informative 45-minute address to 250 members of the Marion County Fish and Game Protective association in the Eagles' hall.

"It is my philosophy that we cooperate between the farmer, hunter and the conservation department will help a great deal in carrying game over the crucial winter period and the same is true in seeking an abundance of fish," Wooddell said in explaining his theory of the solution to conservation problems.

Commissioner Wooddell spoke following a business meeting during which the game association members discussed plans for distributing approximately 140 rabbits in Marion county this month, similar plans for restocking raccoons, the conservation dam program on the Whetstone river and a vermin control contest. Roy Abel, recently elected president of the association, was in charge of the meeting and introduced the speaker.

After the meeting refreshments which included two 100-pound roast pigs were served.

Trained Personnel Needed
The basic principle in a strong conservation program is a trained personnel and a long-time program," was Wooddell's assertion in connection with the activity of his department. Continuity gives an increased value to the program and makes it possible to look ahead with a degree of certainty, he asserted.

In connection with the water conservation program he explained that both the state and federal governments require land easements before supplying funds for improvement which would be of public benefit. The low cost of numerous small dams is one of the major advantages over a larger dam, Wooddell pointed out as he referred to the Whetstone river project in eastern Marion county.

He gave his assurance that construction work on the project would begin as soon as easements are obtained from landowners.

The easements, he pointed out, will give the state the permission to improve the stream both by adding fish and improving feeding conditions. Right-of-way for ingress and egress and for 20 feet on either side of the stream is granted, permitting sportsmen to traverse the stream which would be restocked and improved under a conservation program. At present 58 landowners along the Whetstone from Waldo north to Caledonia, have given the state such right-of-way.

Tells of Rabbit Farm
He referred briefly to the Milan rabbit farm where the state is seeking to determine proper feeding methods and learn more about the habits of rabbits. Five-acre plots with various types of rabbits are fenced enclosed to learn what parasites attack them and what maximum rabbit population a specified amount of land can safely carry. The animals are under constant observation and up to the present time indications point to soy beans as being the best liked food, he said.

Association officials announced that about 150 Missouri cottontail rabbits are expected later this month and a committee to distribute them throughout the county was selected. The committee includes R. W. Miller, E. H. Higgins, W. T. Owens, H. A. Johnson, Ralph Slagle, Addison Bain, Sam Kern, Ray Roush, Homer Surry, Charles Lowe, W. H. Anderson, Robert Bluff, Harry Francis H. W. Davis, W. A. Huff, Thomas Orr, Ira Shrock, Frank Lehner, J. O. Smart, A. F. Goetting, Roland Belanders, Harry Miers, and G. L. Baker.

The organization voted to purchase 15 raccoons to be released in the county within the next month. H. E. Latier and Ralph Sollinger were appointed on a committee to complete plans to obtain the animals and supervise the distribution.

H. A. Johnson, chairman of the vermin control contest committee, reported on final plans. The contest is to begin immediately and will continue until July 1. A trophy and three merchandise prizes are to be awarded the winners. Foxes, crows, hawks, weasels and owls are to be included in computing the winning points. Contestants are to make their reports to H. A. Johnson at the Marion Typewriter Exchange on West Center street, and Roy Abel in Marion. H. A. Lauer of Prospect, the Bailey Hardware at LaRue and the Morral Garage at Morral.

Prospective Applicants Instructed To Register at Relief Headquarters.

Prospective candidates for enrollment in Marion county Jan. 12 enrollment in the civilian conservation corps are urged to register immediately at the office of F. R. Burns, deputy selecting agent, in the relief headquarters building at 131 South Prospect street.

The county's quota has been set at 30 youths. Those who register are asked to obtain birth certificates that their age may be checked before the enrollment next Tuesday. Those youths who enroll now, may if they wish, be discharged after a three-month period. It is pointed out, however, that a youth who wishes to enroll in the CCC must have served at least four months during his previous enlistment and must be out of the CCC at least a year.

The youths who enroll here will be furnished transportation to Mansfield next Tuesday morning, where they will undergo physical examinations. Those selected will fill vacancies caused by discharge within the last three months. Enrollees must be between the ages of 17 and 24, and they will be paid $30 a month, 12% of which is allotted to a needy dependent.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Ready to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile isn't flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Get bile up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, puny and the world looks puny.

Laxatives are only snake-oil. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes these good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel up and up. Harsh, drastic, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. ## KALB HEADS HOUSE FINANCE COMMITTEE

Democrats With Huge Majority Win Chairmanship of All Groups.

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 4.—Rep. Al Kalb of Ottawa county drew the general chairmanship of the House finance committee in committee assignment of members announced today by Speaker Frank R. Uble.

Democrats received all the chairmanships and will dominate every committee by about four to one over the Republicans. Of 23 members on each of the finance and taxation committees, Republicans placed six on each. They received only five assignments on the highway committee of 23 members.

As general chairman of the finance committee, Rep. Kalb will be a member of the powerful emergency, control and sundry claims boards, which have virtually dictatorial powers over state expenditures when the legislature is not in session.

Associated with Rep. Kalb in management of the finance committee, which will handle the biennial budget bill as well as all other appropriation measures, will be Clark T. Hunsaker of Pickaway county as chairman of the general section; Ralph C. Lutz of Richland, educational section; and Grover C. Maxwell of Delaware, welfare section. Kalb and the three sectional chairmen were staunch supporters of Gov. Martin L. Davey in his fight with the last legislature to hold the budget within the limit he had set by veto.

Miss Ruth Lloyd of Scioto county was assigned the chairmanship of the taxation committee, which will pass upon all bills and proposals dealing with taxes. Harry H. Wright of Hocking county became chairman of the education committee, which will handle all matters pertaining to schools, universities and colleges.

Crawford, Hardin Counties in List

Spain to accept the terms of the Treaty of Locarno and confine the war to Spain without the intermeddling of the private armies in the Duff Cooper

Spain's Reply to the
The Spanish demand that Spain be either a neutral or a belligerent was decided by foreign councils, an emergency council, the only one of the allies of the nations to have a right to have raised a number of objections without accepting the plan.
The Spanish demand was that the Spanish would be under the French and Great Britain and German and Italian result in a complete deadlock.
The Spanish demand for the Spanish frontier between France and Spain was moved to the Spanish government.

JACOB H. BOLINGER HEADS GROTTO HERE

Elected Monarch to Succeed Marion Hinklin, Installation Set for Feb. 2

Jacob H. Bolinger was elected monarch of Kadgar Grotto to succeed Marion Hinklin at the annual meeting last night at the Masonic temple.

Other officers elected are M. V. McKeehan chief justice, A. A. Marks master of ceremonies, C. R. Gaultier secretary, Loren G. Sif Banfill venerable prophet, Walter Pitt treasurer, Marion Hinklin trustee for three years.

Mr. Gaultier was appointed chairman of a committee to arrange for a series of three dances at the temple in the near future. Plans for increased activity during the year were discussed in the business session which preceded a social hour and lunch in the dining room.

The installation ceremony will be conducted Feb. 2 by R. G. Williams, W. Don Davis, Frank L. Stanley and John T. Gance, all past monarchs.

PLANS MOVE AHEAD FOR TAX SALES HERE

affected by the plan were on the certified delinquency list.

The tax collection program may be extended to include collection of overdue personal property tax. Treasurer Homer D. Cole in a drive to collect these taxes, raised $125,700 of a total personal property delinquency of around $50,000, his records show. An additional $200,000 has been assured as a result of the drive to date.

Although the time required to prosecute a foreclosure proceedings to the point where the property will be offered for sale will vary with different cases, Mr. Moore has estimated the average uncollected tax foreclosure case can be completed in approximately three months.

All holders of mortgages and other liens against the properties to be listed in the tax foreclosures, will be given opportunity to set up their claims after the petition is filed.

ROOSEVELT WANTS MORE LIBERAL COURT

Jan. 20 the formal hall of the well-known story—$22 to 8 for Roosevelt and Garner.

Setting Dramatic
Contrasting with the somberness of yesterday's opening session, the setting today could scarcely have been more dramatic if deliberately staged. Floodlights beat down upon the rostrum of Speaker Bankhead as brilliantly as footlights have so often played upon his actress daughter, Tallulah.

Vice President Garner had a chair by Bankhead's side to hear the tellers intone his name with that of Mr. Roosevelt as favored for reelection by all states save Maine and Vermont.

How much money the administration will seek to carry relief through June remained a question. If the pace of the last six months is to be maintained at least $700,000,000 will be needed.

The President may hold to his original $500,000,000 figure but allow for transfer of other funds to relief. His budget message also is expected to show whether he will order construction of two new battleships.

ALLS WELL IN NEWARK

By The Associated Press
NEWARK, O. Jan. 2.—All was forgiven today by Wesley Wheeler, 24-year-old factory worker because his 18-year-old wife, One was back home following what Wheeler at first described as a kidnapping by a "love-mad acquaintance" Mr. Wheeler admitted Police Chief Curtis Berry said that she will likely accompany Arthur Spencer, 32 of Columbus Saturday night. She returned yesterday. Berry said a warrant charging Spencer with kidnapping has not been withdrawn, however.

Roosevelt's Address to Congress

immediate necessities and the eventual results.

Hopes to Continue Teamwork
I look forward to a continuance of that cooperation in the next four years. I look forward also to a continuance of the basis of that cooperation—mutual respect for each other's proper sphere of functioning in a democracy which is working well and a common sense realization of the need for play in the joints of the machine.

On that basis it is within the right of the congress to determine which of the many new activities shall be continued or abandoned increased or curtailed.

On that same basis the President alone has the responsibility for their administration. I find that this task of executive management has reached the point where our administrative machinery needs comprehensive overhauling. I shall therefore shortly address the congress more fully in regard to modernizing and improving the executive branch of the government.

Cooperation Benefits Citizens
That cooperation of the past four years between the congress and the President has aimed at the fulfillment of a two-fold policy—first, a speedy recovery through many kinds of assistance to agriculture, industry and banking, and second, deliberate improvement in the personal security and opportunity of the great mass of our people.

The recovery we sought was not to be merely temporary. It was to be a recovery protected from the causes of previous disasters. With that in view—to prevent a future similar crisis—you and I joined a series of enactments—safe banking and sound currency, the guarantee of bank deposits, protection for the investor in securities, the removal of the threat of agricultural surpluses, insistence on collective bargaining, the outlawing of sweat shops, child labor and unfair trade practices and the beginning of security for the aged and the worker.

Wants More Jobs
Nor was the recovery we sought merely a purposeless whirling of machinery. It is important of course that every man and woman in the country be able to find work that every factory turn that business as a whole earn profits. But government in a democratic nation does not exist solely or even primarily for that purpose.

It is not enough that the wheels turn. They must carry us in the direction of greater satisfaction in life for the average man. The deeper purpose of democratic government is to assist as many of its citizens as possible—especially those who need it most—to improve their conditions of life to retain all personal liberty which does not adversely affect the happiness which comes with security and an opportunity for recreation and culture.

Far from Goal
Even with our present recovery we are far from the goal of that deeper purpose. There are far reaching problems still with us for which democracy must find solutions if it is to consider itself successful.

For example many millions of Americans still live in habitations which not only fail to provide the physical benefits of modern civilization but breed disease and impair the health of future generations. The menace exists not only in the slum areas of the very large cities but in many smaller cities as well. It exists on tens of thousands of farms in varying degrees in every part of the country.

Another example is the prevalence of an un-American type of tenancy of farm land. Not only does every farm family have the capacity to earn a satisfactory living on its own farm. But many thousands of tenant farmers—indeed most of them—with some financial assistance and with some advice and training can be made eventually belong to them. The nation would be wise to offer them that chance instead of permitting them to go along as they do now year after year with neither future security as tenants nor hope of ownership of their homes nor expectation of bettering the lot of their children.

Another national problem is the intelligent development of our social security system. The broadening of the services it renders and practical improvement in its operation. In many nations where such laws are in effect, success in meeting the expectations of the community has come through frequent amendment of the original statute.

About Unemployment
And of course the most far reaching and the most inclusive problem of all is that of unemployment and the lack of economic balance of which unemployment is at once the result and the symptom. The immediate question of adequate relief for the needy unemployed who are capable of performing useful work. I shall discuss with the congress during the coming months. The broader question of preventing unemployment is a matter of long range evolutionary policy. We cannot assume that immediate industrial and commercial activity, which mitigates present pressures, justifies the national government at the time in placing the unemployment problem to a filing cabinet of finished business. Fluctuations in employment are tied to all other wasteful fluctuations in our mechanism of production and distribution. One of these wastes is speculation in securities or commodities. The larger volume of speculation the wider becomes the upward and the downward swings and the more certain the result that in the long run there will be more losses than gains in the underlying wealth of the community.

And as is now well known to all of us, the same net loss to society comes from reckless overproduction and monopolistic underproduction of natural and manufactured commodities.

Three "Evil Sisters"
Overproduction, underproduction and speculation are three evil sisters who distort the troubles of our nation. It is to the interest of the nation to have government help private enterprise to gain sound general price levels and to protect those levels from wide serious fluctuations. We know now that if over in 1931 government had taken two and three years later the depression would never have reached the depths of the beginning of 1933.

Sober second thought confirms most of us in the belief that the broad objectives of the national recovery act were sound. We know now that its difficulties arose from the fact that it tried to do too much. For example it was unwise to expect the same agency to regulate the length of working hours, minimum wages, child labor and collective bargaining on the one hand and the complicated questions of unfair trade practices and business controls on the other.

The statute of NRA has been outlawed. The problems have not. They are still with us.

Calls for Federal Problem
That decent conditions and adequate wages for labor and just return for agriculture can be secured through parallel and simultaneous action by 48 states is a proven impossibility. It is equally impossible to obtain curbs on monopoly, unfair trade practices and speculation by state action alone. There are those who sincerely or insincerely still cling to state action as a theoretical hope. But experience with actualities makes it clear that federal laws supplementing state laws are needed to help solve the problems which result from modern invention applied in an industrialized nation which conducts its business with scant regard to state lines.

During the past year there has been a growing belief that there is little fault to be found with the Constitution of the United States as it stands today. The final need is not an alteration of our fundamental law but an increasingly enlightened view with reference to it. Difficulties have grown out of its interpretation but rightly considered it can be used as an instrument of progress and not as a device for prevention of action.

Points to Preamble
It is worth our while to read and re-read the preamble of the Constitution and article I thereof which confers the legislative powers upon the congress of the United States. It is also worth our while to read again the debates in the constitutional convention of 150 years ago. From such reading I obtain the very definite thought that the members of that convention were fully aware that civilization would raise problems for the proposed new federal government which they themselves could not even surmise and that it was their definite intent and expectation that a liberal interpretation in the years to come would give to the congress the same relative powers over new national problems as they themselves gave to the congress over the national problems of their day.

In presenting to the convention the first basic draft of the Constitution Edmund Randolph explained that it was the purpose to insert essential principles to direct the operation of government. These provisions permanent and unalterable which ought to be accommodated to times and events.

Urges Closer Harmony
With a better understanding of our purposes, and a more intelligent recognition of our needs as a nation it is not to be assumed that there will be prolonged failure to bring legislative and judicial action into closer harmony. Means must be found to adapt our legal forms and our judicial interpretation to the actual present national needs of the largest progressive democracy in the modern world.

That thought leads to a consideration of world problems. To go no further back than the beginning of this century men and women everywhere were seeking conditions of life very different from those which were customary before modern invention and modern industry and modern communications had come into being. The world war for all its tragedy encouraged those demands and stimulated action to fulfill these new desires.

Many national governments seemed unable adequately to respond and often with the im-provident assent of the masses of the people themselves new forms of government were set up with oligarchy taking the place of democracy. In oligarchies militarism has leapt forward while in those nations which have retained democracy militarism has waned.

Chief People's Response
I have recently visited three of our sister republics in South America. The very cordial reception with which I was greeted were in tribute to democracy. To me the outstanding observation of that visit was that the masses of the people of all the Americas are convinced that the democratic form of government can be made to succeed and to not wish to abdicate for it any other form of government. They believe that with the changing problems of modern civilization within their selves and that democracies are best able to maintain peace among themselves.

The Inter American conference operating on these fundamental principles of democracy did much to assure peace in this hemisphere. Existing peace machinery was improved. New instruments to maintain peace and eliminate causes of war were adopted. Wider protection of the interests of the American peoples in the event of war was provided. Respect for and observance of international treaties and international law were strengthened. Principles of liberal trade policies as effective aids to the maintenance of peace were affirmed. The intellectual and cultural relationships among American republics were broadened as a part of the general peace program.

Work for Peace
In a world un happily thick with terms of war the representatives of 21 nations sat around a table in an atmosphere of complete confidence and understanding sincerely discussing measures for maintaining peace. Here was a great and permanent achievement directly affecting the lives and security of the two hundred and fifty million human beings who dwell in this western hemisphere. Here was an example which must have a wholesome effect upon the rest of the world.

In a very real sense the conference in Buenos Aires sent forth a message on behalf of all the democracies of the world to those nations which live otherwise. Because such other governments are peopled more spectacularly it was high time for democracy to assert itself. Because all of us believe that our democratic form of government can cope adequately with modern problems as they arise it is patriotic as well as logical for us to prove that we can meet new national needs with new laws consistent with an historic constitutional framework clearly intended to receive liberal and not narrow interpretation.

Must Work for Democracy
The United States of America, within itself must continue the task of making democracy succeed. In that task the legislative branch of our government will be an confident continue to meet the demands of democracy whether they relate to the curbing of abuses, the extension of help to those who need help or the better balancing of our interdependent economies.

So long as the executive branch of the government must move forward in this task and at the same time provide better management for administrative action of all kinds.

The judicial branch also is asked by the people to do its part in making democracy successful. We do not ask the courts to call on executive powers into being but we have a right to expect that they can and will do so. They are logically implied shall be made effective in instruments for the common good.

Asks Free Government
The process of our democracy must not be imperiled by the denial of essential powers of free government.

Your task and mine is not ending with the end of the depression. The people of the United States have made it clear that they expect us to continue our active efforts in behalf of their peace and advancement.

In that spirit of endeavor and service I greet the 76th congress at the beginning of this auspicious new year.

$51,820,500 LIQUOR SALES SEEN FOR 1937

Miller Submits Figure in Budget Report to Davey, $44,708,287 Last Year

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O. Jan. 2.—Submitting the state liquor department first biennial budget to Finance Director M. Ray Allison, Liquor Director James W. Miller estimated today that the Ohio liquor monopoly would show gross sales of $51,820,500 in 1937 and $46,995, 600 in 1938.

Total estimated sales of the department in 1936 were $44,708,287, well ahead of any previous year
—but the director in his budget request made allowances for continued increase in volume of sales and liquor profits.

In previous years the department has operated from a surplus taking from its revenues funds necessary for its operations, but this year Gov. Martin L. Davey asked that a budget be prepared.

Increased sales Director Miller said should make available for payment of old age pensions from liquor profits and gallstone taxes $14,019,248 this year and $16,424,594
in 1938.

Last year the liquor department paid approximately $12,815,798 into old age pension fund.

In addition to allowances of $12,800 in 1937 and $13,800 in 1938 for equipment purchases slightly above the amount spent last year the liquor director reported that his department would require $4, 070,266 for operating expenses in 1937 and $5,504,420 in 1938.

RAIN AND SNOW ON WEATHER PROGRAM

Drop in Temperature Set for Thursday Night

Rain and warmer tonight with rain changing to snow Thursday and colder Thursday night was the weatherman's prediction for Marion today. Bitter cold and rain swept the Pacific coast as winter concentrated its severest blasts on the far west today. The Associated Press reported.

Roads were blocked in Arizona and Utah 250 persons reported marooned in eight battered camps and at least one fatality was recorded in the storm ridden area of the far west. The weatherman promised little relief from the cold in the Dakotas and Minnesota where minimum readings yesterday were in the twenties and thirties below zero.

A reading of 31 below at Bemidji, Minn., was the lowest reported yesterday in the middle west and colder temperatures were predicted for Ohio, Indiana and Michigan.

HEALTH SEAL PLEA AGAIN VOICED HERE

Immediate Response Requested from All Who Have Failed to Make Returns

A plea for an early reply from more than 700 Marion residents who so far have failed to respond in the annual holiday Christmas health seal sale was made today by Mrs. George Ulich campaign chairman. Pledge of ap, approximately $25 in the last week brings the total to a little more than $350.
Mrs. Ulich's report shows.

While it is too late to use the Christmas health seal it isn't too late for those who mind their seals in the holiday rush to make a financial return and help the work of the Marion County Anti-Tuberculosis league in fighting the disease in this community. Mrs.
Ulich said in discussing the sale today.

The league feels she explained that those who have failed to make a return on the seal sent them at Thanksgiving time have or looked or mislaid them in the excitement of holiday festivities. We are asking that returns be made as early as possible as we hope to close the sale by Jan. 25," she stated.

Dutch Queen Pays Bridesmaid Bills After Nazi Tiff

By The Associated Press
THE HAGUE, Jan. 2.—Without a Dutch queen paid down 11 bridesmaid bills to help out the German princess bridesmaids of Crown Princess Juliana who becomes a bride tomorrow.

First the queen's recent tiff over the non-slugging of Nazi heads and the non living of Nazi swastikas caused passport difficulties for the bridesmaids, who include the princess's kinwomen of the flustered
groom, Prince Bernhard, Zu Lippe Bisterfeld.

That was ironical out but the queen's government pursuing its usual course when citizens leave the country on visit permitted the bridesmaids to depart with but 10 marks apiece (less than $4).

So the queen is levelling all expenditures—including the cost of the wedding dresses, fancy dress ball costumes and pin money for the girls.

SOCIALISTS BOLSTER NORTHERN DEFENSES

Seek To Drive Back Rebels Who Have Gained Foothold Along Communications Line

By The Associated Press
MADRID, Jan. 2.—Government forces were rushed today into the Las Rozas sector 10 miles northwest of Madrid to bolster defense of the vital El Escorial highway.

Rebels were known to have gained a foothold on the important communications line to the Ciudad real in what military command one believed was a new attempt to drive a wedge through the besieged capital's western defenses.

Militiamen and international volunteers were heavily reinforced for a battle to drive the Fascists back and keep the link with the main line intact.

A war office bulletin reported the defense forces were bombing Fascist concentrations between Ma-jadahonda base of the attack on the highway and Las Rozas.

Special to The Star

voted to ask the state utilities commission to furnish engineers to the city to make an appraisal of the property of the Delaware Gas Co.

the commission's engineers make the appraisal as a basis on which

DR. LORENA KAGAY of 210 East Center street opened her home to members of the Altrusa club last evening for their monthly business session. The program hour included an interesting talk on the operation and accomplishments of the American Red Cross by Miss Lillian Plack, executive secretary of the Marion chapter. Plans were discussed for the observance of the twelfth anniversary of the organization of the Marion chapter, which will be a dinner meeting at which the Columbus and Findlay chapters will be guests. From 12 to 13 in a social hour Dr. Kagay, assisted by her sister, Mrs. Mary Lentz, served refreshments. The next meeting will be a dinner at Hotel Marion, Jan. 12. C. A. Hudson, superintendent of the city schools, will be a guest speaker.

Mrs. Charles Tobin of Sugar street entertained members of the Buckeye club yesterday afternoon at her home. In a contest the award was won by Mrs. Bennett Harpene. Mrs. Willard Schwenfuth was a guest. The hostess served a luncheon. In two weeks the club will meet with Mrs. Mary Peller of Summit street.

Rehearsals will be resumed by the Marion Nature-Rocical club chorus Thursday night at 7:30 for the opera, "The Sunbonnet Girl," to be given as the final number of the season's series of programs. The opera will be directed by Mrs. J. Malcolm Strelitz. It also will be decided whether the chorus will enter the extended club at Feb. 22. The meeting will open at 7:30. No rehearsals were held during the holiday season.

Miss Mabel Wheatley of Marion, was a guest speaker for a surprise program presented at a meeting of the All Arts club of Prospect Monday evening. The members were guests of Mrs. Edwin Adams, with Mrs. George O. Thomas and Mrs. Paul E. Kyle as associate hostesses. Miss Wheatley gave a travelogue, in which she told of life among the southern mountaineers, and gave an interesting account of a trip to the West Indies. A number of pictures and slides were shown by Miss Wheatley in connection with her talk. Completing the program hour was a song by Bobbie Gene Thom, accompanied at the piano by his mother, Mrs. George O. Thom.

WHAT TO DO FOR ECZEMA ITCHING AND BURNING

Wash the affected parts with Resinol Soap and warm water to soften scales and crusts. Resinol Soap is suggested because it contains no excess of free alkali, and is especially suited to tender skin. Dry by patting with a soft cloth—do not rub.

Doctors recommend an oily ointment because it penetrates the outer layers of the skin more effectively. Resinol Ointment meets this requirement, and does even more. For over 40 years it has been—and still is—successfully used to relieve quickly the itching and burning of eczema. It contains soothing ingredients that aid healing.

Use Resinol Ointment today and enjoy comfort tomorrow. Get a jar, also a cake of Resinol Soap, at any drug store. For free sample, write to Resinol, Dept. 1, Baltimore, Md.

Club Women Hear Review of Prize Winning Novel

A MOST talented word picture family joins the little colony of exiles in Paris drawn by the pen of a Hungarian novelist, and equally as realistically interpreted by Mrs. Depew Head of the Marion County Federation of Women's clubs, was presented when the latter reviewed the international prize novel, "The Street of the Paving Cat" at Central Christian church last evening. The review, one of a series sponsored by the Marion County Federation of Women's clubs, was attended by approximately 60 club women, patronesses and non-club members.

Mrs. Pansy Rauhauer, program chairman, presided and announced the next meeting of the federation on Feb. 2 at which time Rev. Oscar M. Adam of Cheboygan, Mich., a former resident of Marion, will be the speaker. Rev. Adam was dramatic coach at Hart High school a number of years ago.

Mrs. Head described the novel as having no counterpart in literature, and cited as its chief distinction the integrity with which the representatives of the different countries are drawn into the picture. Tragedy, philosophy, ambition, love and sacrifice are woven into the story which draws its characters from Hungary, Russia, Spain, Germany and other countries. "It is a readable novel, a true and significant work, opening our eyes to a wider horizon and our hearts to a deeper significance," Mrs. Head said.

Centers About One Family
Members of the Barabas family are the central characters, and the scenes for the most part are laid in one little street, most of them in one little hotel, near the Seine water front. Refugees from their native Hungary because of economic necessity, the Barabas family is the center of the story.

compensated for the bother he has caused us and he shall make amends."

"Yes," said Bigelow.

He picked up the unresisting body of young Taylor and carried him across the corridor. There he telephoned down for the number of Woody's room and got the steward to help him. Fortunately, they

As Bigelow advanced, Woody Taylor swung the champagne bottle.

Bigelow opened the door. The Russian woman—dressed in a soft white negligee about her—stood facing Woody Taylor. He was very drunk and he had a bottle of champagne under each arm. Karasankoff had evidently been in bed, for her feet were bare, and her dark hair—usually drawn in smooth shining bands over her ears—now hung loose in a dark cloud to her shoulders.

"Can I be of some service?" asked Bigelow.

"Yes, for God's sake, get this man out of my room!" cried the woman angrily. "I left the door unlocked so that my maid could come in. And when he knocked, I thought it was Mariushka and cried, 'the door is open, stupid one!' And he came in. And he will not go away. He insists that I drink with him!"

"I'll drink won't do you any harm," said Woody wheedlingly. "Please—"

"Please—?" cried the woman, looking at Bigelow.

Woody tossed one bottle upon the bed, and struck a posture with the other, swinging it like a club.

"So that how it is, eh?" he said. "Alright, put me out. Come on. Put me out!"

Bigelow advanced, Woody swung the bottle, Karasankoff screamed, but Bigelow had ducked the blow and Woody had lost his balance. He crashed to the floor of the cabin, lay there blinking stupidly for an instant and, with a long sigh, passed out.

Bigelow stood over him waiting. Woody began to snore. Bigelow lifted him a little and looked at him. But he was not faking; he was out.

"He sleeps, eh?" asked Karasankoff.

"Yes, he'd had much too much to drink, you know. I'll take him back to his room."

"You have been very kind," said Karasankoff, gratefully. "It was such a difficult situation. I did not wish to ring and have the whole ship gossiping tomorrow. And my maid would not arrive."

"You will remove him?"

She smiled and Bigelow saw that she was lovelier than he had imagined and younger, too.

"Yes, it was rather awkward. I can see that," he agreed, smiling back. "But I can't be altogether sorry that it happened. One doesn't often get a chance to rescue a damsel in distress these days."

She laughed outright at that. "You make me feel delightfully young and helpless," she said. "And I have not felt that for a long time. Do you think he will sleep quietly now, until you get him back to where he belongs?"

"I'm sure of it."

"And you can carry him without assistance?"

"Easily."

"Then—perhaps you will remove him—please—and afterward come back to my sitting room? It is just next door. And I will accept this little gift of the champagne and we will share it. So we shall be

DO THE BRITISH LIKE AMERICANS?

crediting to a man's office to do business without an appointment is another bugbear to the Englishman. He may admire American initiative at a distance, but doesn't want our salesmanship applied to him personally.

Here is an illustration of the general feeling:

The American Way.

When I first went to England many years ago, I applied for and was granted an interview with a prominent member of the cabinet. Fast sort of thing was a novelty to most London newspapermen. One of my English colleagues who also wrote on government affairs but who never had tried for an interview, was highly indignant with me.

"That's the sort of thing an American would do," he snapped. "I realize that in Washington a reporter can walk into the private office of the secretary of state without being announced, put his feet on the secretary's desk and spit tobacco juice on the carpet. But it isn't done here."

The average Englishman dislikes our language—particularly the extreme slang—and our nasal accent drives him to distraction. One thing that strikes him greatly is the effort made by many Americans to speak with an English accent. There isn't one American in 10,000 who ever achieves a "correct" English accent. Attempts to imitate the English are pretty appalling.

Dress Too Loud.

The penchant of some American men for extremes in dress causes much unfavorable comment, especially among Englishmen who wear monacles.

Let an American follow our custom of shifting the fork from the left to the right hand every time a mouthful of food is taken; and he will find the whole dining room in England watching him in disdain.

To sum the thing up, the British thinks Americans as a whole are crude, loud-mouthed, too aggressive, and extremists in most ways.

As already stated, however, the individual American lady or gentleman, of conservative persuasions, will find a warm welcome in England.

Political Friends.

Moreover, most British feel that the peace and progress of the world depend on close friendship between America and the British Commonwealth of Nations. Many of them say they would like to see an Anglo-American offensive and defensive alliance. The relations between the two governments are, of course, of the best.

Underlying some of the feeling about our ways and customs is an unspoken resentment because America has taken a lot of the limelight from mighty England in both trade and world affairs.

Also, because of our strong British ancestry we are expected to be like the English, and any deviation causes a turning up of noses. Just as my New York City friends look with scorn on my Vermont liking for pie at breakfast, so the Englishman views all our "idiosyncrasies."

Now I am going to think up one to ask the gentleman of Nebraska.

Marry-Go-Round

BY HELEN ROWLAND

NO PREMEDITATION

A proposal of marriage, like murder, is seldom premeditated, but just an involuntary act committed in a moment of temporary delirium.

A popular screen lover is the dashing sort of dandy who might have been, if he had never married.

Marriage is the point at which an author ceases writing his best love-scenes from life, and begins writing them from memory.

After a girl has married a man and tried cooking for him for a while, she soon discovers that the way through his stomach does not lead to his heart, but to his liver-complaint.

Sometimes a woman envies her husband's watch. He treats it so gently and tenderly, takes it with him wherever he goes, and never admits that it is wrong!

If a woman were given only three minutes to live, she would spend at least two of them in repairing her make-up.

A bachelor always thinks of marriage, accidentally, as something that may happen to other men, but never to himself.

The "Married Tragedy" of Henry James is a love scene and a marriage scene in one act, and a comedy scene in two acts.

You can't judge a man by his wife's attitude of him. One woman may call her husband a "brat" and another may call him a "gentleman" because he never knocked her down.
